College Concert Band On Symphonic Basis

Herman, Assistant Director; Johnson, Personnel Director; Smith, Librarian

The College Concert Band will be organized on a symphonic basis at once this year, according to Dr. Christensen, director. More attention will be given to music of symphonic character than has been done in previous years, in order to develop a brilliant concert band as early as possible. The principle duty of the band during the fall term, however, is to play for games and pep fests and to march in parades.

Jules Herman has been appointed assistant director; Jerome Johnston, director of personnel; and Verna Smith, librarian. The other officers are to be elected soon.

Dr. Christensen announces that, besides promoting school spirit, the members of the band should strive to develop sight reading ability, band management, experience in conducting, and a keener responsibility for band equipment. A plan to take part in community affairs outside of the campus is also considered.

The band will rehearse Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of each week. The members are furnished with an all-weather march folio, a large pocket envelope, and a Dragon Concert folio for convenience and the care of music. The band members are also furnished with band coats and caps and, in some cases, instruments. White flannel skirts or trousers complete the uniform.

Collegiate Digest To Be Distributed With MiSTic Regularly

Rotogravure Section Of National Collegiate News To Be Regular Weekly Feature

Beginning with this issue of the MISTIC, students of Moorhead State Teachers College will each week receive the Collegiate Digest, a rotogravure section containing national collegiate news in picture and paragraph, as a regular feature of the MISTIC.

Presenting each week a pictorial review of college events, Collegiate Digest contains many features that will be of interest to our readers. Its new department, "Report Card," contains the latest news of the entertainment world.

Urged To Send Photos

Photographs of events on our campus will appear in Collegiate Digest and students are urged to submit photos to the editor (Box 472, Madison, Wis.) so that he may have a greater choice of interesting news from the college. He will pay $1 for all photos accepted for publication when published.

This will be the second year that the MISTIC has distributed Collegiate Digest as a regular feature for its readers. It is published by the Associated Collegiate Press, a cooperative organization of some 250 college and university newspapers in the United States, and has proven its "readability" during the time that it has been published.

The editors of the Collegiate Digest invite the comment and criticisms of the readers of the MISTIC.

Frances Gates And Wayne Parker Lead Dragon Cheering

Frances Gates, Pelican Rapids, the only veteran cheer leader, was chosen to again lead the student body in rooting. To assist her, Wayne Parker, Sisseton, S. D., Freshman, was selected at tryouts held Tuesday and Wednesday.

Cheering and yelling sent the Dragon football men on their way to Jamestown this morning as the student body crowded around the bus, giving them a snappy send-off. Pep and enthusiasm prevailed with a happy spirit, seemingly to start the year out right.

Herby Lange, Pep Commissioner, is planning a definite program for the season. A pep squad of approximately twenty members will form the nucleus to assist the cheer leaders at the pep fests and games.

Kinney To Speak In Chapel On Work With Southwestern Indians

Dean Hedelund, Of Ministerial Association, Extends Welcome To All Students

"Fifty Years of Work Among the Indians of Southwest America," is the subject which Rev. Bruce Kinney of Denver, Colo., who is representing the American Baptist Home Mission Society, has chosen to speak upon in Chapel Wednesday. Rev. Kinney and Mr. Bridges, head of the College Social Science department, were friends while attending Denison University.

Representing the Ministerial Association of Moorhead, Dean S. J. Hedelund, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, extended an invitation at Chapel Wednesday to all College students to attend any of the churches of the city. Dean Hedelund spoke on the subject of "Goodly Pearls."

Goodly Pearls

"A good education is one of the goodly pearls," said Dean Hedelund. "I doubt if we appreciate that there is nothing as great in this life as preparing oneself for one's vocation."

He continued by saying that a godly, decent and respectable life and the desire to be of real service are both goodly pearls in life.

Dean Hedelund stated that students away from home find so many things to interfere with church life. He urged the students to start a church life right. He said, "We want you to realize that every pastor in the city invites you to attend the church of your choice."

Dragon Football Team Begins Fall Schedule With Jimmies Tonight

Continue Season With Tough Concordia Cobbers On Saturday, September 29

Tonight the football season opens as the Dragons come to grips with the Jimmies at Jamestown, N. D., under the floodlights of the Jamestown College field. The squad scrimmaged several times this week in preparation for the tilt and are in good shape. Coach "Sliv" Nemzek departed this morning with the squad of thirty men to direct his forces in action.

Jimmies Tough

On being interviewed by a MISTIC reporter, Coach Nemzek said, "The Jimmies are a tough bunch this year, and every man will have to get in and pitch, because I've got two or three men for each position. No slackers wanted on this outfit." He recalled that the Dragons had a tough time beating the Jimmies in 1929 by a score of 6-0, but that in the following two years the M. S. T. C. grid-ders took Jamestown into camp by scores of 39-0, and 54-0. But Jamestown was a conference champion last year and is expected to put up a hard battle.

Bjerkness Mainstay

Co-captain Julian Bjerkness will attempt to iron out the rough spots in the line. Playing his last season for M. S. T. C., Bjerkness is a mainstay at the guard position, and good football is expected from him. Tonight's game will test his qualities of leadership along with those of Joe Edlund.

Co-captain, half-back, and Senior, Edlund will be leading the backfield into action as Bjerkness puts the forward wall in motion. Both players realize that the Jimmies are thirsting for revenge and an opportunity to cross the Dragon goal line.

Starting Lineup

The probable starting line-up includes Frank Marconeri and Wayne Stephens at the ends, Vernon Schranz and Evard Serbin as tackles, Julian Bjerkness and Walter Mikulich as guards and Wally Erickson at the center post. In the backfield, the decision is harder to make. Two combinations have been used successfully. Ac-

Introducing-
COLLEGE STUDENTS have often been criticized for being too provincial in their scope of interests. Weighted down by the rush of campus activities, they often become segregated from the rest of the world and fail to look beyond the horizon of their small sphere.

Securing educational advantages far superior to the average American citizen, there seems to be no logical reason why collegians should not exercise more influence and more leadership in the affairs of the nation even while in college.

It is for the purpose of stimulating student interest in the happenings of the day, that the Western Mistic inaugurates with this issue The National Merry-Go-Round. It is a student-edited column containing an analysis and interpretation of the highlights of the week's news.

What's In A Name?

SUGGESTIONS HAVE been made at various times to change the official title of this school to Western State Teachers College in accordance with the portion of Minnesota it represents, in preference to the present city designation of Moorhead State Teachers College. Similarly the sister Teachers Colleges in the state would also be renamed according to regions in which they serve. The Bemidji College would become Northern S. T. C.; St. Cloud, Central; Duluth, Eastern, etc.

The theory of the proposed change is that by enlarging the scope of the title, much will be accomplished in enlarging the scope of interest in this school. The suggested title would be a constant reminder to the residents and educators of this western section of Minnesota that this educational institution is maintained primarily for them. Conceivably greater ties of allegiance would be established by so doing which would tend towards the manifestation of greater interest in the welfare of the school and in the teachers which it trains. The suggestion probably merits consideration.

Federal Aid

THE QUESTION of Federal aid for elementary and secondary schools, which is the topic chosen for the Minnesota High School debate question this year, is one which is stimulating widespread discussion. As yet politicians, educators, and the general populace alike are divided sharply on the issue.

The advocates of the plan contend that annual federal subsidies to the grade and high schools are necessary in order to equalize the educational opportunities throughout the nation. Such states as Arkansas, South Carolina, and many others, have not the resources to finance an adequate educational program, even in times of normalcy, they contend.

Just as it was necessary to shift from local district to state financed programs within the state in order to equalize opportunities, so it is now imperative to equalize educational opportunities throughout the nation. In addition, they favor national support because it will make possible greater efficiency, and greater progress with consequent achievement of higher standards.

Many of those opposing the plan argue that Federal support of elementary and secondary education would lead ultimately to complete Federal control. They fear that authority thus centralized, would control the social purposes and specific processes of education to such an extent that educational despotism would result.

We need only look to Russia, Italy, and other European nations to see the results of a highly centralized educational system wherein the masses are taught only what the authorities want taught, to see what will probably result. Keep control close to the people, opponents contend, if we are to preserve this essentially democratic institution as a balance wheel on our government.

Pending the outcome of the issue, we are assured of much lively discussion pro and con. As future educators, who will be vitally concerned in the matter, we would do well to keep abreast of the times in following its development.

Without vouching for the truth of the matter, we merely pass on to you Dr. Archer's assertion that matrimony is not a word—it's a sentence. He is more experienced than we are.

While we're on the subject have you heard this definition of a bachelor? He's one that's been eyed and found wanting.

The Fresh-men seem to be a bit lax about the "wearing of the green." Better look out or the "big bad Soph" will get you.

History making events are occurring every day.—Russia invited into the League of Nations, munitions inquiry, textile strike, etc. Now is a good time to acquire the habit of browsing over the newspapers daily.

The 1934 Homecoming editions of hirsute appendages (whiskers to you) are in the process of development. It's hard to determine yet whether they'll be fur or feathers.

Judging by the number of Homecoming committees drafted by the Student Commission, there will be no student unemployment problem until October 20.

James Farley, U. S. Postmaster-General, is speaking in Fargo Saturday. A word to the wise is sufficient.

Open Column

LITTLE THINGS
A Senior is seen directing a Freshman to Weld Hall.

Miss Joy, while putting away her books in the locker, discovers a Freshman working vigorously to open the locker near by, and with a smile, offers her assistance.

A Freshman sees the spirit of the Green Cap tradition and willingly wears the cap as instructed.

These are the little things unnoticeable at the time, but lasting in the building of a character. Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors all can profit by the small things which in time become a part of his personality. Time is valuable only in the way it is used. Upper classmen know this. Maybe the Freshmen could profit by the statement. Leisure time is not a waste of time but a profitable time if well spent. It is the struggle and well spent hours of either work or play that count. Taking things too easy makes us soft and easy to destroy. Making mistakes is half the fun of getting along. Enter some extra-curricular activity and do your part in promoting more talent—you never know until you have tried.

Make friends, adopt the standards of the school, and enjoy college life. —R.N.

Little Audrey Still Laughs

The fleet's in! My, my, but girls WILL go nautical; I'll bet Pelican (that wide spot in the road) is all sold out of little sailor suits.

Walter Severson is never serious, the fall crop always affects him that way. That trio (Bunny, Pauline, and Kay) all are holding their own as far as Wally is concerned.

The week's weightiest question—How can Cocking take a gal out on 30 cents? Answer—get a gal with an apartment. (Eastman wants to know if she has a friend.)

News?
The M. S. T. C. gals seem to sort of go for Moorhead High boys. Lois

National Merry-go-Round

An Analysis and Interpretation of the Highlights Occurring in the Week's News By Maynard Tvedt

CHARGES AGAINST munitions manufacturers, which declare that they promote their selfish business interests with ruthless disregard of the rights of humanity, have seemingly been substantiated by the senatorial investigation committee headed by Gerald Nye. This revelation should make every thinking citizen seriously consider governmental control of arms manufacture.

ANOTHER GREAT chapter in the history of Soviet Russia is being consummated in her admission into the Way Back When—

Four Years Ago
Conversation overheard in Weld Hall:

"Well, Mr. Ballard," said Miss Hayes, "how did you enjoy the faculty picnic last Saturday?"

"Fine, fine," answered Mr. Ballard. "It certainly was a success."

"Yes, it was a real blow-out," admitted Dr. Archer as he thought over the tire trouble on the way.

True to form, some members of the party persisted in getting lost on the way to Inverness, summer cottage of President MacLean on Lake Pelican. Last year it was Dr. Locke, Miss Handeyside, and some others that swerved from the right course. This year, Mr. Preston and Mr. Sande were the guilty ones. Now, if Mr. Ballard had gone out of his way for some new specimen of plant life, we could understand readily.

For excitement, the men played horseshoe. They were joined in a little while by some of the faculty women who couldn't stand to see the men enjoying themselves so much alone. It took the afternoon kitten-ball game, however, to furnish the excitement. MacLean's "Flea Chasers" and Murray's "Rodents" battled to a tie on the green turf about Lake Pelican.

Three Years Ago
The United States Army Band, conducted by Captain William J. Standard, gave two programs in Weld Hall, September 21. The numbers selected for both the afternoon and evening concerts to a large extent were chosen for the purpose of introducing Latin-American music to the people of the United States.

Two Years Ago
Girls, dig out your smartest frock, clean your white gloves, dust off your best shoes, and prepare for the big event, Open House at the new men's dorm, the exact date to be announced later. This will be your chance to see how the other half lives. For, housed in the small brown building sitting so modestly and shyly between Weld Hall and the Training School, are twenty-six men who will show you how entertaining is done in a grand manner.

The College Campus paving project will be practically completed within the next two weeks if the present rate of pouring the concrete can be maintained. Approximately 3,000 yards of pavement and almost as many yards of sidewalks are being laid.

"I believe in youth. I believe that youth over the last ten years hasn't had a real chance," says Dr. Ralph D. Hetzel, president of Pennsylvania State College.

Students poorly trained for a college career, and who do not wish to take work for a higher degree, have been enrolled in a special course designed to give them subjects that will be most profitable for them in their short stay in college at the University of Missouri (Columbia).

McNair and some unidentified Freshman girls were given a big break.

By the way, Vivian Larson seemed to go for a "Lott" of motorcycle riding. Ho hum! Moorhead High again. Vincent Schneider spent the weekend in Jamestown (good thing I put a question mark after NEWS).

Things We Can Do Without:
Freshmen bursting into the wrong room at the wrong time.

"Geranium" Wallace's attitude of importance. (We call him "Geranium" because he has red hair and blooms the year around.)

My, my, Bibs is giving S. Dak. a break now.

League of Nations. For Russia, who began under her present regime as an outcast among nations, it is indeed a triumph to be admitted into the family of nations.

WITH EVERY passing day the situation of the strikers in the textile mills throughout the South and East grows more tense. Employers are striving desperately to reopen enough mills to off-set the effect of the strike. Employees fight with equal determination to maintain an effective strike. The National Guardsmen are attempting to prevent violence and permit mills to operate. It is deplorable that labor and capital cannot cooperate sufficiently to prevent such crises. Nothing more truly reveals the weakness of American industry.

AN OLD ADAGE says, "The watched pot never boils." If this be true, every peace-loving citizen of the world should watch the plebiscite which determine whether the Saar, so long a cause of international conflict, will belong to France, Germany, or neither.

THE APPALLING tragedy of the liner "Morro Castle" which burned off the New Jersey coast at early dawn September 8 with a loss of 182 lives, struck deeply into the heart of the world. While it seems incongruous that such events can occur in a world in which man claims "to have conquered land, water, and air," this catastrophe will no doubt rouse the world to take precautions which will render such disasters impossible in the future.

Caca Cackles!

Welcome all you Dragons and Dragonettes to our new column, which boasts a new name, author and material, we hope. Since this is written primarily for fun and frolic, we would be quite handicapped if we were unable to bring in a few personalities, likes and dislikes. If we have offended you, we apologize, as we have not done so meaningfully but in the spirit of fun, and to that alone we dedicate this humble column. We think that between this column and "Little Audrey" we should have quite a coverage and include all the humorous antics that abound in our Campus life. So help me!

GETTING STARTED

Seeing that this is the beginning of the school year, naturally a fellow's fancy turns, not lightly, to thoughts of the fairer sex. Have you noticed that girl from Pelican Rapids? It seems that when she trips down the halls, a hundred pair of masculine eyes follow her every footstep. Wearing a Scotch plaid suit and a cunning little hat with a feather tucked in it, she makes a very pretty picture, and to top it all, has a personality plus.

Now that the leaves are falling and a tang comes into the old Autumn air, "Wimpy" Burke, who hails from the lake region, wants to remind you that any time is hamburger time. Believe it or not, the kid is flipping hamburgers down on good old Center Avenue. If he can tote hamburgers as proficiently as he does the pigskin, he should be quite the lad with his "Wimpy Specials." Being in possession of a few nickels, I happened to drop in to see him at work, and just to be different, I ordered hash. Well, it seemed to have everything in it but the restaurant's license, so what I ate wouldn't satisfy an ant with chronic indigestion. So help me—

BARGAIN?

News Flash! (Courtesy of Naused Press) "Howly" Hollister has bought himself a new pair of brogues. Yowsah indeed! He got them at a "bargain" for only two smackers and I'm athinking he will give them to anyone for four bits. It seems that they are off his feet, more than they are on. Say "Howly," why don't you pull the cleats off your "Riddell's" and wear them?

I know one girl from South Dakota (not Quande) who is being rushed plenty and why not? Well, she is fortunate to have a car of her own and do the men like that—Yowsah indeed! Nice car, too, it's a buggy that needs no publicity so we will call it a Pyorrhea Coach as four out of five have one—Paging Mattson!!! So-o-o-o, the night's rolling around as nights will, so I think I'll drag hoof over to the Black Forest where snow comes down like snow and it's cool as a stepmother's embrace.

Now YOU say something!

The Book Shelf

During the summer approximately 1,000 new books were received in the library, according to Miss Hougham, college librarian. The library staff is preparing them for use as quickly as possible. Many of them are ready for circulation now, and, as work on them is completed, the books are placed on open shelves where they may be examined by faculty and students before being shelved in the stacks.

College students who are assisting in the library are: Jesse Foster, Margaret Fuglie, Signe Olson, and Martha Wade.

Valuable Cambridge Edition

The Cambridge Ancient History in nine volumes, plus three volumes of plates, is one of the outstanding recent additions to our college library. Following the human race from its remotest, dimmest beginnings up to the time of Constantine the Great, it is a very valuable source for any Ancient History student. The three volumes of plates are in themselves extraordinary. They contain pictures of every remnant of those ancient times. This set will be useful and interesting not only for history students, but also for anyone interested in ancient culture, arts, crafts, religion, and mythology.

Now that the library has acquired this long desired set, its aim is to get a similar set in modern history—Cambridge Modern History in thirteen volumes.

Latest Dictionary Added

The long-awaited second edition of Webster's New International Dictionary is now completed and a copy is in the Library. More than ten years of active preparation, at a cost of one and one-third million dollars was spent on this new edition of the greatest one-volume American dictionary of the English language.

This dictionary has grown through ten different editions in all, beginning with Noah Webster's American Dictionary, published in 1828, and becoming, in its ninth edition, the "New International." The present edition is a complete revision of its predecessor, fully two-thirds of the contents having been revised or entirely rewritten, and the total number of vocabulary entries has been increased to six hundred thousand.

Reality Of Far East Seen In Maugham's "Ah King"

(By Wilson Dokken)

A man-of-the-world yarn spinner, perhaps the best in the world, such is the essence of Maugham. I am convinced of the first part of this statement. However, in view of the fact that critics have already given Mr. Maugham credit for writing the best novel produced in the first two decades of the 20th century (Of Human Bondage) perhaps I will be criticized for heaping more laurels on this author.

There is something tremendously fascinating in seeing the strange corner of the world through the eyes of a seasoned traveler. For Maugham, from Singapore to the South Seas, has chosen not the wildly exotic happenings, almost unbelievable, but such as an experienced tourist would see. He has taken the exacting detail, has chosen coolly and carefully. He has picked the dramatic incident with true judgment. The combination exotic and prosaic background gives a strange matter-of-fact reality.

The author has said he is indebted to those two great masters of the short story—De Maupassant and Chekhov. Without question, his exacting ability of essential detail is a lesson learned from De Maupassant. To a discerning reader the influence of Chekhov will be noticeable.

Ah King is a collection of six short stories with the setting in the Far East—Federal Malay States. It takes its title from the name of a native servant of the author who impassively and stoically served him for two years. To the author's great surprise Ah King wept when Maugham left for England.

A new "seven wonders of the world" was listed at the University of Illinois by Prof. A. W. Nolan when he announced what he considered to be the outstanding wonders of the universe.

He included in his list the discovery of the solar system, law of moving bodies, law of electricity, law of electrical radiation, law of electrical structure of the universe, law of steam engine, and the law of life.

College High School Elects Officers For Various Activities

Divide Band Into Junior And Senior Organization; "Drag- ons Eye" Edited

The first meetings of the various clubs of the College High were held Friday. The French and Art Clubs elected new officers. The French Club's are: Fanny Stusiak, president; Dorothy Hansen, secretary; Margaret Krogh, club reporter; and Frances Nemzek, social chairman. "La Mirroir" is the title of a new French paper which the club will publish with Marie Correll as editor-in-chief. During the fall quarter, individual projects will be sponsored and French plays will be studied during the winter quarter.

The Art Club officers are: President, Lloyd Peterson; vice president, Ethel Nemzek; secretary, Ruth Larson; and club reporter, Olive Thortvedt.

The band has been divided into two groups: the advanced band in charge of Dale Hallack, with 34 members, and the junior band, in charge of Mr. Berquist, with about 20 members. The officers are: Captain, Fanny Stusiak; Corporal of cornet section, Philip Archer; Corporals of clarinet section, Janice Christenson and Borghild Headland; Corporals for trombone section, Alton Peterson and Harold Nelson.

Dick Hoag, editor-in-chief of the Dragon's Eye, reported that the first edition will be ready for distribution today.

The first football game is scheduled for Friday at 3 o'clock when the Baby Dragons will play Hawley here.

Affiliated Schools

Dr. Archer, Miss Bieri, Miss Corneliusen, and the affiliated school teachers are planning a steak fry on the Buffalo river Friday evening. Mrs. Eugene Grover, nee Pearl Shetler, and Betty Brown, former supervisors, will be guests.

Dr. Archer, Miss Bieri and Miss Corneliusen visited the affiliated schools Monday afternoon and made moving pictures of playground activities.

Mrs. Helen Mickelson of Perham is the new matron at Clearview.

The affiliated schools are trying an experiment suggested by Mr. Everts, of the State Department, in regard to recreation periods. Instead of the usual two separate recess periods in the morning and afternoon, a long recreation period of thirty minutes is being used for the afternoon session, with only a five-minute activity period in the middle of the morning session. Mr. Everts believes that more worthwhile play activities can be fostered with a long concentrated period.

A ventilating system designed to change the air in the University of Iowa (Iowa City) Union every six minutes will be installed in the Hawk-eyes' social center in the near future.

College men and women are on the average taller than those young men and women who do not attend an institution of higher learning, it has been revealed here by Dr. Harold S. Diehl, of the University of Minnesota medical faculty, after an extensive investigation of the heights of more than 40,000 college students.

Schedule For Use Of Buildings Announced

Program Outlined To Prevent Confusion In Use Of Rooms And Equipment

To avoid confusion in the different parts of the College buildings, a definite schedule for their use has been organized. The complete schedule of regular events is in the office of the Dean of Women. The use of the rooms and equipment not on the regular program should be listed on the schedule as needed and as early as possible, the committee on buildings pointed out. Any change made should be registered in the office. If each group will observe the schedule rules and conform, there will be few difficulties.

Schedule With Dean

In regard to the buildings, all meetings which will entail the use of the rooms or buildings after hours should be registered at the office of the Dean of Women. All regular social events will be held only through special arrangements with the social committee.

All rooms not used as per schedule will be locked at 6:00 p. m. and the regular gymnasium rooms at 7:00 p. m. Except in the case of specially scheduled events, the rooms and buildings will be locked at 10:00 p. m. Especially to be noted is the fact that faculty members may not open the buildings for student groups nor loan keys to students.

Library Hours

The College library is open Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday evenings from seven until nine. Although the buildings are closed Sundays, the auditorium may be used for some events.

The Physical Education building regularly closes at 7:00 p. m., but is open in the evenings according to the regular schedule of the Physical Education department for its activities. The office of the Dean of Women is the headquarters for requests for the use of the floors in this building.

Training School

The organizations related to student teaching and to education in general will be permitted the daytime use of the social rooms in the Training School. Requests for the use of those rooms for educational purposes should be made to the Director's offices not less than twenty-four hours previous to the event. Each organization will be responsible for any damages during the use of these rooms and buildings.

For further information as to these rules and regulations, students should consult the bulletin board in MacLean Hall.

Dragon Football Team Begins Fall Schedule

tion will be seen by Walter Scheela and Ross Stephens, quarterbacks; Willard Burke, Marco Gotta, Joe Edlund and Milton Hollister, halfbacks; Joe Formick and Jack Johnston, fullbacks.

Probably the whole squad will see action, since all positions are being hotly contested for. The game tonight will give Coach Nemzek an opportunity to see what the various men can do.

One of the strongest teams on the schedule will be met next Saturday by the Dragons on Memorial Field as the Cobbers from Concordia College trot out for action. In the past nine years, six ties have been played between the two schools, with the Cobbers holding a slight edge. Last year the game ended in a 0-0 tie. Boasting a strong line which will open holes for Bob Fritz, star fullback and captain, the Cobbers intend to settle the game in their own favor.

Kise, Archer Speak At Congregational Conference Tuesday

College Faculty Members Discuss "Communism And Americanism" And "Liquor Situation"

Mr. Kise and Dr. Archer, faculty members, spoke at the annual meeting of Congregational churches at the First Congregational church, Moorhead, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. Kise spoke on "Communism and Americanism." He discussed the various theories advanced regarding the functions of civil government. Communism represents the extreme view point in one direction and anarchism in the opposite direction, he pointed out. When our constitution was adopted our people adhered to the principle of individualism which was ideal for that day.

"The question before the people today is: How far toward the left shall we go? Communists wish to overthrow the present economic system by a revolutionary process. The English people have always made progress by evolution in accordance with law and order. The true American way of change and progress should be sought by the use of the ballot," Mr. Kise concluded.

Dr. C. P. Archer spoke Wednesday on the "Liquor Situation." He stated that men drink to get relief from tiredness and to cover up fatigue, to add to the hilarity of the occasion, to escape harsh and unpleasant realities, to cover inherent nervous defects. He also discussed a program for improvement, and a way to bring about temperance rather than income for brewers and for government agencies.

NORTHERN LIGHTS

Next Friday night the snorting Dragons will journey down to the Jamestown environs to regale the fun-loving public with their good, natural rivalry on the gridiron.

The Jimmies have selected "Sliv's" gang for the opening game of the season.

In the argot of the boys, "the blow-off is perfect" because on the night of September 21 the Dragons are going to move everything in their way that is on the Jimmies' field—even the flood lights.

Mr. Yatchak, the snarling ape man from up Michigan way, is expected to have his broken toe in shape this weekend.

It is being bruited about the brouse that Mister Nemzek is treating his collision with Al Cassel's gang so seriously that he has arranged to have his linemen start pushing the steel bleachers around this week.
